Andrew is the Managing Partner of Gislason & Hunter LLP and also serves as chair of the firm's Family Law & Divorce Practice Group. Andrew represents business owners, farmers, professionals (doctors, lawyers, accountants, dentists, etc.)—or their spouses—and other individuals throughout southern Minnesota in a wide range of family law matters, including complex and high net worth divorces. With a knack for seeing the big picture and helping clients make good choices, Andrew tirelessly works to resolve matters the right way.

While Andrew is far and away most proud of the many successful outcomes he has negotiated for clients outside of the courtroom—many times before a court case is even filed—he has also achieved significant success in motion practice, trials and on appeal, including having successfully argued a significant family law case before the Minnesota Supreme Court. Andrew enjoys solving complex and difficult issues and guiding his clients through what for many is the most emotional and difficult time of their lives. In addition to representing his clients, Andrew is a frequent lecturer on complex family law issues to both local and national audiences.

Clients with significant assets or a business appreciate Andrew's experience representing businesses and business owners and his knowledge of farm, real estate, business valuation, accounting and finance principles. Andrew also represents unmarried individuals in custody and parenting time matters, as well as those entering into cohabitation agreements to protect assets and income.
